MARTIN RENAMED GOP FINANCE CHAIRMAN

Announcement of the reappointment of Stuart F. Martin of Rumford Point as Oxford County Republican Finance Chairman has been made by the state chairman of the 1955 G. O. P. fund campaign.

"The choice of Mr. Martin as organizer and director of the finance drive in Oxford County," Chairman Kenneth C. Tipper of Waterville said, "was a unanimous acknowledgment of his effective service to the party. In the task of organizing workers in all the towns of the county, we are certain that he will receive the same wholehearted support as in the past."

The fund campaign will culminate in a Republican Recognition Dinner at Portland Sept. 23, at which workers in the eight southern division counties will be honored.

Stuart F. Martin, Oxford County Treasurer, is a member of the First Congressional District Republican Committee and the Rumford town committee. An auctioneer and real estate executive, he is also a member of the Rumford Board of Selectmen.

One of the first actions in the Oxford County finance campaign was the division of the county into three districts under the leadership of Charles F. Trumbull of Fryeburg, Sheriff James Lassiter of Paris, and Sarah C. McCaffrey of Rumford.

NROTC Midn. 3/c Paul C. Fossett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fossett of Bethel, Maine handles torpedo equipment aboard the light minelayer USS Harry F. Bauer.

The Midshipmen are afforded the opportunity of visiting interesting and historical sights during scheduled stops at ports in Spain and England.

Gunnery practice at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, will climax the cruise before returning to Norfolk August 2.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

We are perhaps all conscious of the recent increase of one cent per gallon in the State gasoline tax. Naturally we do not enjoy this or any other tax increase. We should perhaps realize that we will receive in Bethel (as well as other Maine towns) about one and one-half times as much money for Town Road Improvement work as last year. This fund is entirely State money. Last year we received slightly under $3,700.00 while this year we expect to receive about $5,800.00 for this work.

The young men working on the revaluation project report good reception to their visits and apparently work is getting along well for them so far.

HEAT CAUSES DERAILMENT

SATURDAY IN GILEAD
Two cars of the west bound way freight were derailed near the Mason farm in Gilead about 2:30 Saturday afternoon due to a "sun kink" in the track. Traffic was delayed several hours, the east bound passenger train being some five hours late.

CAREFUL LOADING OF CAR IS IMPORTANT

"Load your car carefully for that vacation trip," caution our State Police today.

Pointing out that faulty loading which obstructs the driver's vision is a serious safety hazard, they emphasized:

"Make sure that luggage and vacation equipment will not obstruct your view when driving. It is of vital importance that your vision be clear on front, sides, and rear."

"That rear window ledge should be used with caution," they continued. "Anything bulky enough to interfere with the view to the rear should never be placed on this ledge. Again, paper and light materials which are easily blown about are dangerous, as a sudden gust of wind may blow them around inside the car creating a hazardous distraction to the driver."

"Another thing to be considered," the State Police concluded, "is the fact that objects resting on that rear window ledge may be catapulted forward in case of an accident, causing injury to driver or passengers. All in all, it is a mighty good idea to give some serious thought to the business of loading that car for your vacation."

Newry Plans Observance of Sesquicentennial July 23

The town of Newry, which celebrates its Sesquicentennial this year, is planning a gala day with fun and entertainment for all Saturday, July 23. It is hoped many former residents of the town, as well as many new friends, will be able to attend and enjoy this historical event.

The first settlements in Newry were made in 1781 following the Revolutionary War by two Massachusetts men, Benjamin Barker and Ishiel Smith. Descendants of these men still live in the community. Other settlers followed and Newry was incorporated into a town June 13, 1835, while Maine was still a part of Massachusetts.

The oldest natives of Newry are a sister and brother: Mrs. Ellen Frost Bailey, 91, who resides with her son, Ernest Blabec, in Bethel, and Charles Frost, 87, who now lives in West Bethel. The oldest natives, lifelong residents of the town, are Mrs. Bessie Searle Learned and Lon E. Wight.

A history of Newry, written by Miss Carrie Wight, a native, and containing many old-time pictures will be of great interest and will go on sale that day. Sesquicentennial pins with a picture of Ararat's Bridge on Sunday River will also be on sale.

Newry has been fortunate in securing the Bath Drum and Bugle Corps for the day. This group, consisting of over 40 young people under the direction of William E. Milliken, won the State American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps title for 1954-1955. In 1954 they won the Madison Sesquicentennial Champion and also the Western Parade Champion titles. In Portsmouth, N. H., they were third in the Drum and Bugle Corps Festival and again this year they were Parade Champions at North Andover, Mass.

This Drum and Bugle Corps will lead the parade which starts off the day's activities at 10:30 a. m. and can be seen from the Smith Corner, where the rest of the day's events will take place. Many old time vehicles are being oiled and greased to once again travel the Newry road.

At noon, folks may bring a picnic lunch or buy refreshments from the Bear River Grange booth.

The Drum and Bugle Corps will give a concert at 1 p. m. and at 2:30 will present their fine precision drill. No one within a radius of 200 miles should miss seeing this group perform.

The principal speaker of the day will be the Rev. Clayton Richard of Nantucket, Mass., who is well known in this vicinity, being a former Rumford pastor. It is hoped that several former residents of Newry, now living in Bethel will reminisce briefly.

Richard Noraworthy, student pastor at Newry, will lead the young folks and old folks too, in old-time games and contests. Can you climb a greased pole? Your great-grandfather could.

It is rumored that an impromptu horse pull in charge of Alvin Gross, will take place in the late afternoon.

An exhibit of historical items, antiques, Newry minerals and modern Newry products, may be seen in the basement of Bear River Grange Hall from 2:30 to 5. A committee under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Davis are collecting this material.

The traditional bean-hole beans will be served beginning at 5:30 in the Grange Hall by the ladies of the Newry Church Circle with Mrs. Verne Sterling as chairman.

At 8 p. m. Lon Wight and his Old Times will tune up for a real Old Fashioned Dance. Come in your oldest clothes, those you keep in the trunk in the attic, as prizes will be offered for the best costume as well as the oldest couple in attendance and the couple coming from the longest distance.

It is hoped many will be able to attend the special Sesquicentennial services Sunday at 9:30 in the Newry Community Church which celebrated its 50th anniversary last summer.

In case of unfavorable weather, the day events will take place on Sunday, the 24th; the supper and dance being planned on Saturday.

The general committee in charge of the Sesquicentennial are Robert Davis, Mrs. Herbert Morton Jr., and Warren Powers.

DR. COFFEY TO ADDRESS METHODIST GROUP

Dr. Hubert Coffey, Professor of Psychology at the University of California, Berkeley, Calif., will speak to the Methodist Church group on the evening of July 21, at the Bethel Methodist Church. Dr. Coffey is one of the staff at the National Training Laboratory in Group Development.

BETHEL WATER COMPANY OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bethel Water Company was held Monday afternoon at the Community Room.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, E. A. Van Den Kerkhofen; clerk and treasurer, Louis Van Den Kerkhofen; auditors, Henry Hastings and Mrs. Franklin S. Chapman; directors, Mrs. W. J. Upson, Mrs. William Chapman, Herbert R. Howe, Walter Tikander and Thomas Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gurney and daughter, Lillian, returned recently from a trip to Mexico. They were accompanied by their son, Scott, on his return to duty in the Air Force in Texas.

AL CHAPMAN LEAVES NAVY—SERVED 26 YEARS

The following, taken from a recent issue of "The Gator" will interest many of our readers:

"With a Chief Boatswain's Mate's piping and six other chief petty officers serving as sideboys, Alvin F. Chapman, 37, boilerman chief, last week departed the Capricornous (AKA 97) after 26 years service."

"A man well liked by his shipmates, Chapman received an inscribed gold wrist watch from the boiler room's 11-man 'B Gang'."

"In the course of his 26-year tour of duty with the Navy, which began with recruit training at Newport, R. I., late in 1929, Chapman served in ships varying in type from a destroyer to an aircraft carrier, and during World War II, to combat zones ranging from the North Atlantic to the South Pacific."

"Chapman plans to move to the vicinity of St. Petersburg, Fla., where he hopes to do some intensive fishing while he and his wife await the arrival of their first child."

Alvin F. Chapman is the son of the late Alvin F. Chapman of Bethel and Mrs. Emily S. Chapman of Augusta. He was born in Bethel and graduated from Gould Academy in 1933.

Ideas from other editors

From the Wildwood Independent, Wildwood, N.J.: Who loses when regulation of our transportation agencies is too sweeping and based on obsolete concepts?

That 194 question has been answered in a report, prepared at the cabinet level, by the Presidential Advisory Committee on Transportation Policy and Organization.

The report points out that there has been a "transportation revolution" in the past 25 years. Where the railroads once had a virtual monopoly of intercity transportation, but business has become intensely competitive.

It then says: "During this same period government has failed to keep pace with this change and has, in fact, intensified its regulations of transportation. Paradoxically, the underlying concept of this regulation has continued to be based on the historic assumption that transportation is monopolistic, despite the fact that the power of individual transportation enterprises to exercise monopoly control has been rapidly eliminated by the growth of pervasive competition. The dislocations which have emerged from this intensified competition on the one hand, and the restraining effects of public regulation on the other, have borne heavily on the common carrier segment of the transport industry."

The shipper and ultimately the consuming public pay the costs of this dislocation. The consequent loss to the public, while incapable of exact estimate is believed to amount to billions of dollars per year.

In other words, it's we, the people, who must pay when laws and policies prevent any basic enterprises from making the most of its advantages and capabilities. Horse- and buggy transportation regulation is a costly, unnecessary and dangerous burden on the whole nation.

From the Summerville Scene, Summerville, S.C.: We agree and yet we disagree with the union campaign for a guaranteed wage. We think that year-round employment is desirable. In our style of budgeting, it is essential. But we see nothing sound in paying seasonally employed people for the time they don't work, no matter how pleasant it might be not to work.

Now if the CONSUMERS and the MANUFACTURERS and the UNION can agree that it would be better to work out a more sensible system of introducing new models and maintaining steady production and working steadily we would be strongly for the type of steady wage that would result.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

Today, in and out of government circles, there is much talk about business in business and what, if anything, should be done about it.

This talk has been stimulated by the great number of business mergers that have taken place in late years. The issue, regardless of one's view of it, is obviously important. An excellent discussion and review appeared in a recent issue of the New York Times Magazine, written by a world-famous economist, Professor Sumner H. Slichter of Harvard. He urges: "Let us examine the good and the bad aspects of business, and in so doing let us attempt to reach conclusions concerning the kind of public policies that would give the country both vigorous competition and high technological efficiency."

Dr. Slichter's article cannot be adequately covered in a brief space, but certain points deserve wide understanding. It is true that big business is far bigger than they used to be. The assets of the 15 largest manufacturers today, expressed in dollars of constant purchasing power, are six times as large as the assets of their equivalents of 1900. But other elements of the economy have grown vastly too. Dr. Slichter cites labor: "The 20 largest unions at present have 15 times as many members as the 10 largest unions in 1900."

Moreover the situation varies greatly from industry to industry. According to Dr. Slichter "Among 42 manufacturing industries, in only 21 do the four largest companies produce 75 per cent or more of the output, while in 124 industries the four largest companies turn out less than 25 per cent of the output." And business is not necessarily permanent. For example only one of the 15 largest manufacturers of 1900 is in that select group today. This change, Dr. Slichter says, is largely "a result of the rise of new industries."

There is debate with the marked change in thinking on the subject of business. A traditional criticism was that big business behaved monopolistically and used its power to prevent competition and keep prices high, and was slow to expand. That criticism is rarely heard these days, for it simply does not square with the facts. Some of the highest businesses are engaged in the toughest competitive scraps, are spending money at a vast rate for expansion, and are doing everything conceivable to woo the consumer. So present-day critics argue instead that big firms are doing more than their share of growing, and advocate, in Dr. Slichter's words: "(1) that mergers of companies be considerably restricted, and (2) that a legal limit be placed on the share of sales in an industry that any one concern might be permitted to make."

Dr. Slichter finds that these "new arguments against business are extraordinarily weak." A limit on sales, "would interfere with the freedom of consumers to buy the goods of their first choice," and would have many other ill effects. He believes that mergers should be encouraged for the most part, and prohibited only when the proposed mergers concern large companies within the same industry and the result would be weakening of competition. He especially favors mergers of companies in different industries, on the grounds that "they usually invigorate competition."

All in all, the problem is a complex one. It is certainly true that arbitrary and narrow restrictions on business growth would be a heavy brake on progress. At the same time, almost everyone wants to prevent monopoly. And there is one point of the greatest significance here, that is implied as well as stated throughout Dr. Slichter's article—monopoly and bigness are not necessarily the same thing. Mere size is not a danger in itself.

THE LOW DOWN

FROM HICKORY GROVE

Today we deal with the subject, "Summer." Everybody likes summertime but each weekend and on each holiday we chafe up another 100 or 200 who have seen their very last summertime coming and hope they will see and enjoy no more they will be untraveled from the wreckage along the highway.

People are going farther and faster and getting less and less safe. As cars become able of greater speed, too many drivers defect they drive down the limit. You chafe up the highway with a dozen or so such heavy footed individuals — live on manners and courtesy — and the trucks will stretch and next comes the accident.

Back during the war the life of the folk and the old folks told us over and over that for economical and safe driving the speed should be below 30 miles per hour. Gasoline is better. The tire folks and old folks would rather see you around them than see you careening into disaster via above and today's reckless use of their products. Lunch clubs looking for a research problem can get themselves one—I donate one such—no strings attached. "It is, 'How can we get GOOD MANNERS back in the saddle, on the highways?' And here sense, see what has happened to that, too."

Yours with the low down,
JO BEHRA

GRASS ROOTS OPINION
International Falls, Minn., Daily Journal: "The customers—you and I multiplied by millions—decide what products our factories will make, how much will be made, and the price they will be sold at. Competition for the customers' money weeds out inefficient businesses, and forces others to become more efficient. This in turn brings about lower prices, better quality and service, and the development of new and improved products."

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

D. A. KLEVEN, 8036 So. Racine Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, says he once had many fears of all kinds but he was always able to drown them even though it took at least a quart of whiskey a day to accomplish this. He went to see a doctor who said at the rate he was going he might live a year.

Then came his greatest fear: the fear of forever being a slave to alcohol, the fear of ending in a drunkard's grave, the fear of being behind locked doors of a mental institution, with a wet brain, or behind bars with a murder charge as the result of drunken driving.

One night soon after this realization God must have extended a helping hand, for two people from Alcoholics Anonymous came to see him. He admitted he was powerless over alcohol and that his life had become unmanageable, but after a convincing talk by his callers he placed his faith in Alcoholics Anonymous and soon he made a decision to turn his will and his life over to God's care. As he understands him, he accepted the help extended him and believed all he was told.

His faith grew and grew and fear disappeared. He learned to live twenty-four hours at a time. Yesterday gone, tomorrow not yet here, today he lives the best he can. As a result of all this, he has faith, hope, love and most of all, peace of mind. Faith in Alcoholics Anonymous taught him to have faith in himself, in his fellow men and above all in God who is always with us.

Every day he uses this prayer:
God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change; courage to change the things I can; and wisdom to know the difference.

SCANNING THE NEWS

THERE is little doubt but that the leadership of the Democratic party as exemplified by its leadership in the Senate of the United States has turned ultra-conservative.

Over in the House, Speaker Sam Rayburn, the Texas veteran, has sought by every political and parliamentary maneuver of which he is a past master, and his belief in a liberal Democratic party to carry through a program upon which Democrats could make a campaign in 1956. He has been under-cut, however, by the same type of ultra-conservative thinkers in the House that control the Senate.

The result is that there are some here in Washington and elsewhere in the country who have the interest of a two-party system at heart, who are wondering if the Democratic party can afford this type of leadership and remain an entity. The only compensation to which these Democrats can see, is that the Republican party is plagued with the same type of leadership with the same type of split personality.

Almost overnight Senator Walter George, of Georgia, has become a "great statesman" as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He is asked for his opinions on foreign affairs as often as the Secretary of State, or even the President. The Republicans have made Senator George a statesman. It is a repeat story of the statesmanship of the late Senator Vandenberg in the 80th Congress. In that Congress, it was the Democrats who made Senator Vandenberg a statesman as leader of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Prior to that, Senator Vandenberg had bucked the Foreign Relations Program as an isolationist, just as Senator George in the past has opposed almost everything New Deal. Senator George is aided and abetted by a hard core of southern Senators who hold important committee assignments because of their seniority. These include Senators Byrd, of Virginia; Daniel, of Texas; Eastland, Miss.; Holland, Florida; Johnson, South Carolina; Robertson, Virginia; Stennis, Mississippi; Thurmond, South Carolina and McClellan, Arkansas.

Their counterparts in the House include such Congressmen as Vinson, of Georgia; Hadden, North Carolina; Richards, South Carolina; Smith, Virginia; Bonner, of North Carolina; Boykin, Alabama, and some others.

These men, who are making the Democratic record in this Congress, are just about as far in their thinking from such Democrats as Humphrey, of Minnesota; Clements, Kentucky; Gore, of Tennessee; Hill, Alabama; Jackson, of Washington; Lehman, of New York; Monroney, Oklahoma; Neely, West Virginia; Symington, Missouri; McNamara, Michigan, and Neuberger, of Washington, as the most stand-pat Republicans in the Senate.

The record books show that the Democratic party has never won a Presidential election with a conservative leadership. It has won its elections as the liberal party of the nation. Further, the record books show that when the Democrats have won a Presidential election, with one exception, it would have won anyway, without the vote of the solid south.

Thursday, July 14

Read Psalm 119:145-56
or Acts 17:24-28.

Thy statutes have been my songs in the house of my pilgrimage. I have remembered thy name, O Lord, in the night. (Psalm 119:54, 55.)

THE Old Testament philosophy of history is easy to follow because there are definite cycles.
The people prosper as they obey God; then they forget God in their prosperity and He punishes them.
They suffer and in penitence cry out for forgiveness; then He forgives and blesses them again.

One thing must not be forgotten.
God is very near in every cycle;
just as near when He punishes, and people suffer, as when He blesses, and the nation prospers.

No more striking statement of that belief can be found than the words of the psalmist calling God to remember when he awakes in the middle of the night. We wake up in the night and sometimes cannot quickly go to sleep.

What do we think about in the lonely night watches? Is it not wonderful to have God so close to us that we naturally turn to Him in our thoughts and meditate upon His greatness and love for us?

Prayer

O God, our Father Thou art near us at all times but sometimes Thou dost seem far away.
Lead us to such an experience of Thee as will make us aware of Thy nearness always, even in those night hours when we are sleepless. We would be as vividly aware of Thee as was our Lord, in whose name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day

In those days we need not feeling experiences of God, but a sense of His continuous nearness.

TRIBUTES TO
MRS. TENA M. THURSTON

I would like to personally thank my many friends for their beautiful letters and cards of sympathy which I received during the recent loss of my mother. These words of love and comfort are a great comfort to me, and I thank you sincerely.

Erma Young

Following is an excerpt from one of the many letters which I received. It is a great tribute to my mother and is printed here so that you all may share it with me.

"You hold her in your dreams at night
You call her in the dawn
And yet you have to tell yourself
That she is really gone;
That she has gone beyond recall Forever and a day.
And there is nothing you can do
And nothing you can say.
She was so wonderful to you
So gentle, sweet and kind
It seems that she was always in Your heart and in your mind.
No, there is nothing you can say
Except a loving prayer
That God will bless your dearest one,
And keep her in His care;
And in your silent sorrow
There is nothing you can do Except to prepare for the time
When she will share Eternity with you."

How fortunate you have been to share life with such a wonderful Mother! I am sure her guiding hand all these years will be a source of helpfulness to you and you will bravely receive what our loving God plans for you as she would ask you to if she were here.
Her life was a shining example of tolerance and good citizenship.
Cheerfully, whole heartedly, and without reservation she gave her time and wonderful personality to help others be just a little happier in their daily lives.

Her gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall,
She had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
But God knew that she was suffering
That the hills were hard to climb,
So he closed her weary eyelids
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
Away in the Beautiful Hills of God
In the valley of rest so fair Someday, sometime, we know not when
You will meet your loved ones
there."

Love and God bless you dear,
Doris Brown

In Loving Memory of Tena M. Thurston
You are not dead—Life has but set you free!
Your years of life were like a lovely song,
The last sweet poignant notes of which, held long,
Passed into silence while we listened, we Who loved you listened still expectantly!
And we about you whom you moved among Would feel that grief for you were surely wrong—
You have but passed beyond where we can see.

For as who knew you, dread of age is past!
You took life, tiptoe, to the very last;
It never lost for you its lovely look;
You kept your interest in its thrilling book,
To you Death came no conqueror;
In the end—
You merely smiled to greet another friend!

IT'S UP TO YOU
By
Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

The intake of labor's welfare funds in the State of New York amounts to $475 million per year, and total reserves are just under $3 billion. In addition, labor organizations have substantial, and in many cases large operating funds in their treasuries amounting to hundreds of millions.

If any think that management and ownership of industry are too highly paid and get more than their share of the product of American business, the answer would seem to be for labor to use some of its substantial resources to buy the shares of the industries of its choice and thus share not only in ownership but in management.

No one and no group has a monopoly on the ownership of our great industrial corporations. Their shares are offered freely for sale every day. Not only can labor organizations buy them but individual workers are free to do so and are even encouraged and assisted by many large industrial enterprises.

The laboring people of America earn over two-thirds of the national income. By eliminating wasteful expenditures for idle amusement, gambling, liquor and tobacco, and after a few years of thrifty saving the American workman could own a very important part of the industrial enterprises of our country. He would thus acquire a voice in management and would share fully such rewards or losses as accrue to owners.

The basis of nearly all success in business and accumulation of wealth has been hard work, thrift, frugal living and earnest effort to save. That road is still open for all who choose to travel it. Rather than criticize those who do, why not all of us follow their good example. The way to participate in the rewards of management and ownership is to become managers and owners ourselves. Shares in almost any business enterprise are available now on the easy payment plan, and the greater the number of American people acquiring a share in the ownership of American industry the better it will be for them, for all of us, and for our country.

Tempe, Ariz., Daily News: "The United States of America were visualized as so many republics, determined on handling their own affairs and looking to the Federal government only for international policy and guidance in matters of a strictly national character. We have moved so far away from that original principle that we have reached a point where all powers begin and end in a Federal government....It's a sorry come-down for the American heritage; and if it isn't to sink any lower people had better begin getting up on their hind legs and speaking up for it."

EARL H. CLIFFORD, Register

THERE are few things as relaxing to a man as the return to the daily 8 to 5 following a vacation—provided the vacation consisted of a week of cooking, washing and chasing after two wild Indians while mother was gone to visit the stork and see what she could do about getting a new member for the tribe.
It's quite pleasant to put your feet up on the desk, casually contemplate the pile of papers, memos, pencils, erasers, etc., draw a deep breath of satisfaction, then pitch in with a zest you didn't have the day your "vacation" began. Working doesn't seem so bad after all. In fact, it's downright restful.

This "vacation" was quite an experience and I heartily recommend one of the same for every man who has wondered why it is he seldom gets sympathy at home when he drags the body in and flops down in the chair, bringing with him the sad tale of "a hard day at the office," and probably a little more mud or dust. The little woman may smile and offer sympathy, but she is just being nice. Her inner self is saying, "Why, you never had it so good!"

I may sound like a turncoat, men, but really I'm not. It's just that I'm fresh from seeing how the other half lives, full of firsthand experience, so to speak. It's true I didn't hold the job long enough to become really adjusted, else I wouldn't have been washing baby clothes, welding brooms and pots and pans in my sleep. But I think I gave it enough of a trial to be able to speak with a smell of authority.

HOW SAFE IS THE AUTO JACK YOU USE?

Changed a tire lately? If you have, you probably used a bumper jack—about the only tool you get with a car these days. Cars have grown bigger and heavier with soft and flexible springs. This jack literally must suspend the frame of the automobile about a yard off the ground to raise the tire an inch or so.

Are you safe when you have a ton or two of shiny metal teetering on a red-like wand while you yank off a wheel? Maybe, if you're on absolutely level ground. But you can be in trouble on a slope or uneven road. The car can fall on the axle. But worse, it can fall on you.

A comparatively new jack, now available in most accessory stores will do the correct job. It's a three-legged bumper jack. One sturdy leg goes next to the bumper, and the other two stand to the sides and back a little to keep the car from wavering. A revolving screw, operated by a crank, does the lifting. The AAA says this kind of jack is safe. Prices range from $4.50 to $9.95.—Changing Times.

Odesa, Tex., American: "It may be true that unionism protects some persons but for every person aided by union compulsion, at least one other is injured. A man who is kept on at his job by a union after he has demonstrated his incompetence, is merely keeping some other man who is more competent from having gainful employment. The incompetent is protected against the competent discriminated against. Economically, the result is less production per dollar spent, wherefore higher prices for consumers."

BEAR RIVER GRANGE

Bear River Grange No. 285 met at their hall at Newry Corner on July 2 with W. M. George Stearns in the chair. The usual order of business was taken care of as usual. This was "Gents Night" and the offices filled accordingly. There was quite a discussion as to what the Grange would do to help Newry celebrate their 150th anniversary on July 23rd. Our next meeting will be "Safety Night" and will come on July 16—"Smoke the Bear" will be with us. All are invited.

Bro. Edward Bennett acted as Lecturer and put on a very nice program of music, readings, etc. Bro. James Lassiter gave us a nice talk and told us how we would be treated in case we drank too strong lemonade and came down to spend a spell with him. It proved to be interesting as it always is when he gives a talk. Bro. Ernest Holt finished off the program with a showing of colored slides he had taken both at home and away—which was very interesting and enjoyable. We hear that Brother and Sister Holt are to leave for the west very soon for Brother's health's sake and we wish them a very pleasant and happy vacation but Grange won't seem right with them away. Hope they let us hear from them now and then.

Conservation Farming In Oxford County

by Douglas L. Marston Soil Conservation Service

With the dry weather the last two weeks soil conditions have improved considerably and construction work on ponds, waterways, and ditches should be starting soon.

A tile drainage project was just recently completed on the Erwin Trask farm in North Paris. Mr. Trask had been bothered considerably by seeps in his orchard and spraying was very difficult in the early spring and also during the summer in wet years. He installed 525 feet of 4 inch tile this past week and plans on about 300 feet for next year. There is a large wooded area above the orchard and water comes to the surface at several points in the orchard. A backhoe was used to dig the tile trench which averaged about 4 feet deep.

Edgar Barrett of Sumner is already to start construction on a pond on his farm in Sumner. George Strong of Sweden is also ready to start construction of a pond.

Albert Brooks of Brownfield is ready to start construction of a drainage ditch on his farm.

This is certainly a good time to do the construction work as it affords an opportunity to get a good sod established before the fall rains come.

The Oxford County Soil Conservation District is having a sod cutter made for the use of farmers in the County. This will be available after July 15 so anyone with an erosion problem that has had difficulty establishing a good sod may obtain further information by contacting the Soil Conservation Service office at South Paris, Tel. Norway 647-M.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Relative To Fire Insurance Rate Adjustments

We wish to make a public statement clarifying the recent newspaper announcement of adjustments in Fire Insurance rates in the State of Maine.

The rates which practically every insurance agent charges are established by the New England Fire Insurance Rating Association and approved by the Insurance Commissioner of the State of Maine. The rate adjustments recently announced have the approval of the Insurance Commissioner and carry reductions in rate on certain dwelling, mercantile and manufacturing risks. However, there are some exceptions so that we can not promise reductions for all types of property. We fully intend to make any and all reductions and refunds to our customers on those policies which qualify.

These new rates and adjustments were effective June 13, 1955. Furthermore, policies effective on or after April 30, 1955 will be adjusted on a Pro Rata basis as of June 13, 1955.

These reduced rates are now being used by us and refunds on qualifying policies will be made as time will permit.

Calcium chloride was applied to Main, Broad and Church Streets.

Carpenters were erecting O N Thompson's house on Church St.

Signs were put up at street corners, designating the names of the streets.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Charles L. Stewart, Albion, N. Y.: "When I was a little boy we used to take hay rides in the family's old wooden axle wagon. We were too poor to use axle grease for lubrication so we used a tar bucket filled with soft pitch hung outside the wagon bed. When the wheels began crying so loud for lubrication that the neighborhood dogs began barking as we passed we then knew it was time to 'tar up.'"

Crude and humble though this method of travel was, we had a reasonable assurance that we'd get there in one piece!

I also remember the little brass lamp with a round wick that was lit only at night other than the light of the wood fire in the front fireplace.

We children seldom got any candy except at the Christmas season. Ice cream none of us tasted until the turn of the century. Shoes—I usually got my first pair for the year at Christmas.

Good old days! A lot of people say they were, but good for what? Long hours of labor, coarse food, jeans, cotton check dresses and bogan shoes with brass toes!

From Mrs. Forest Crane, Anson, Texas: "I remember when there were no telephones in the small town where I lived as a child, and when anyone gave a party they sent out a personal messenger with a big piece of paper listing all the people who were being invited. A space by each name would be filled in by them with such notations as: 'accept with pleasure,' or 'sorry we can't attend,' etc."

BETHEL MIDGET BALL CLUBS

Donations have been received the past month from the Bethel Lions Club, Dr and Mrs A L Walters, Fred Hall and Fred Grover. At the Midget Ball Field, some of the new bleachers have been completed, and it is hoped that dug-outs will be finished and in use soon.

The use of the bulldozer donated by Charlie Keoskie of Grafton Lumber Company and the operator, Floyd Bartlett, worked one Sunday recently at the Junior Pine Tree League Field. Dick Davis reports that lack of more bulldozers is holding up the completion of this field. Meanwhile, Paul King and some of his ball-players have been clearing brush at Thurston Field where this team is now playing its games.

Braves vs. Bryant Pond

Bryant Pond took a 22-8 win over the local Braves at Bryant Pond on July 4. Charlie Newell pitched for the Braves, striking out eight Bryant Pond boys. Al Grover claimed a triple and two singles with Lindon Felt and Wayne Perry with two singles each. It is felt these boys stood a good chance of winning if the full regular team had been playing. The regular catcher, Orlando Fraser, was unable to play.

Braves vs. South Paris

The Braves lost to South Paris on Sunday by a score of 14-1. Wayne Perry pitched an excellent game for the Braves, striking out six South Paris players. Charlie Newell took over for the last inning. Although our boys were out-classed from the start, they still gave a good account of themselves, making a much better showing than they did at the first game with South Paris. The winning team made sure of their win, by playing their best pitcher and catcher, with their pitcher hurling a no-hit game.

Red Sox vs. Norway
Bethel Red Sox came to life Sunday to give League-leading Norway a rough time. York held Norway to four hits with DesRoches, Hutchins and Rice holding the big sticks for Bethel. Tilly and Payne kept the Red Sox in check by fanning 10 slickers. Cordwell hit the long one to clinch it for Norway 6-2.

Red Sox vs. South Paris

The Bethel Red Sox traveled to South Paris Monday night for a game well played and well worth seeing. With Hutchins hurling he allowed only three hits. Stan Gray pitched a no hitter for South Paris. With this fine demonstration of team-work, the Red Sox certainly offer the five other teams of the Little League stiff competition in the next half of the League Series.
